JCI announces “50GB + free 5 minutes calls” at 2,178 yen per month and “20GB + free 5 minutes calls” at 1,390 yen per month

Japan Communications Inc. (JCI, TSE Prime: 9424) is pleased to announce the launch of the upgraded 'Reasonable 50GB Plan (2,178 yen per month)', which increases the monthly data allowance from 30GB to 50GB while keeping the monthly base fee unchanged, and the 'Reasonable Minna-no Plan (1,390 yen per month)', which increases the monthly data allowance from 10GB to 20GB, also with no change to the monthly base fee. These new products will be available starting from September 30th (Monday).

In the post-COVID era, as people's activities have intensified, the use of telework continues. This has led to an increase in mobile communication usage, even while on the move and during telework, resulting in higher data consumption by our customers. This plan upgrade (increased data allowance) is part of our commitment to promptly meet customer needs.

JCI proudly offers plans that exemplify our commitment to "Reasonable Mobile Rate Plans" for our customers. These include the "Reasonable Simple 290 Plan (1 GB; 290 yen per month) " for low data usage, the "Reasonable Minna-no Plan (20GB + free calls up to 5 minutes per call (or 70 minutes of free calls per month); 1,390 yen per month) " for average data usage, and the "Reasonable 50GB Plan (50GB + free calls up to 5 minutes per call (or 70 minutes of free calls per month); 2,178 yen per month) ". We confidently recommend these plans to our customers.

However, customers who consistently use more than 63GB should consider mobile carrier plans.

JCI also plans to upgrade its corporate SIM plans with increased data allowances within the year.
